notes below.*

Describe your company and its role in the construction industry. Our company operates with the motto, "Simplifying the Building Process." We achieve this by focusing on clear communication, detailed planning, streamlined project management, quality craftsmanship and comprehensive post-construction support.

What unique challenges have you faced and overcome as a woman in construction? One unique challenge I've faced is breaking through stereotypes and pre-conceived notions about women in this traditionally male-dominated industry. Another significant challenge was finding my groove in the construction industry after becoming a mother to my now 3-year-old son. Balancing the demands of a growing family with the responsibilities of my career required a lot of adjustment and resilience.

Which female role models or mentors have influenced your career the most? One of the most influential female role models in my career has been my mother. As a business owner in the construction industry, she shattered many barriers. Watching her navigate challenges, lead with confidence, and maintain a strong sense of integrity while growing our family business was deeply inspiring. She taught me the importance of perseverance, hard work, and staying true to my values.
